

THE SOUNDS OF US: UNCOVERING THE BLACK ROOTS OF AMERICAN MUSIC

*July 23, 2025
6pm*

National Museum of African American Music

"The Sounds of Us" will explore the often unacknowledged Black roots of American music — across multiple genres — and why the contemporary backlash to acknowledging those roots is part of a long history of undermining Black artistry. This evening will highlight why an appreciation of that rich history is a critical tool for the furtherance of multicultural democracy.
